

TRAINING

Transition to Consultancy Leadership

A unique two-day training course for newly appointed consultancy leaders to help them transition quickly and effectively into new leadership positions.

Overview

This two-day training programme is aimed at new consultancy partners, leaders, and managers. The course covers how consultancy's structure and organise themselves in order to meet their strategy and goals. Three distinct levels of leadership are covered so that the delegate understands their role and the role of other leaders, both above and below.

The training uses a combination of face-to-face training with individual and group exercises.

At the end of the programme you are provided with 3 months access to the online training material, a 90 page workbook, a copy of "The Balanced Consultancy", a book on running all aspects of a consultancy, and a 54-page booklet with an infographic representation of the course material and more.

By the end of the workshop, you will:

- Understand the role of the Executive Leadership Team (ELT) and how the divisional and local leadership teams can support them.
- Have a framework so that you understand what you need to do yourself and what you expect your team to do.
- Understand how the financials in a consultancy organisation work
- Understand why consultancies need leaders with flexible and supportive leadership styles and to be able to apply techniques to get the best out of your team members
- Be able to identify and pull the 8 levers for high consultancy performance.

Who is it for?

- Newly appointed Partners, Directors, or General Managers of Consultancy Service Providers
- More experienced leaders who could benefit from a formal structured refresher on consultancy operations or who would like a structured framework for succession management
- Fast-track individuals with an aspiration for partnership or general management
- Heads of function who want an overall view of how consultancies operate
- Anyone else who wants to understand how they can support the leadership of their consultancy.
